Hi, I’m Brian Strohl from the City of Beaverton, Code Services. Today, I’d like to talk to you about Abandoned and Discarded Vehicles. When, where, and for how long can you park your vehicle on the street. We thought you’d like to know.

Would you want this in your backyard?
Would you want to live next door to this?

Depending on where you park your vehicle, it could create a hazard or detract from the appearance of the neighborhood. Remember that the main function of a public street is to allow for the safe passage of vehicles and, in most areas, for temporary parking. Vehicles are only allowed to be parked on a public street for 48 hours unless they are at the address of the registered owner. They must be parked parallel to the roadway and be heading in the direction of travel, unless otherwise posted. Vehicles must never be parked on a public street for the purpose of selling the vehicle. Except in an emergency, vehicle repairs must not be made on a public street – it’s just not safe.

Broken down or wrecked vehicles should be stored in your garage or at a storage yard – not on the public street. If you’re going to park on private property, be sure to keep the sidewalk clear for pedestrians. Parking spaces must be hard surfaced - asphalt, concrete or paver blocks.

Vehicle left outside on private property must be in operable condition with current registration plates, or they are considered a public nuisance. You can store inoperable, unlicensed vehicles in garages or at a storage facility.
